CONFIGIT AUTOMATES CONSOLIDATION PROCESS

Configit replaced Excel with Konsolidator in the Fall of 2016. Shortly after, they could automatically reconcile the financial year of 2015. They are satisfied that their new method of handling financial consolidation is consistent and well documented.

A NEW SYSTEM

Configit was faced with the task of creating a new consolidation system in Excel, since the current one did not work. Anders Tang Christensen, CFO of Configit, had heard about Konsolidator from an acquaintance. He was aware that Konsolidator was a new company, but if Configit could achieve an automated consolidation process with an audit trail and without the risks that come with Excel, Anders would be pleased. Since Konsolidator did not require a heavy implementation process or a start-up fee, Anders decided to try it.

One of Konsolidator's employees scheduled the implementation process together with Configit, and a few weeks later they could handle the consolidation without assistance. "Jack did a terrific job helping us to get up and running and ensured that it was successful," says Anders Tang Christensen. Konsolidator has worked impeccably for Configit ever since.

Anders was contacted by Konsolidator's support department one evening during the start-up phase due to an isolated incident of downtime. The pro-activeness of Konsolidator's team meant that Anders could continue with his work the following morning.

A WELL DOCUMENTED AND CONSISTENT SOLUTION THAT SIMPLY WORKS

One of the greatest advantages, according to Anders, is that Konsolidator delivers on its promises and is a reliable consolidation tool. Configit are happy that they now have a consistent way to work. Everything is well documented, and Konsolidator automatically completes elimination movements and post-entries, making the job easy. Configit's firm of auditors have also confirmed that the new way of handling financial consolidation works well.

Anders is looking forward to trying the new modules that are continually added to the solution and are available to all of Konsolidator's users. He particularly expects to make considerable use of the Konnect-module, which is Konsolidator's new Excel add-on.
